FOREWORD

Many times I have had someone say to me, "Your high school days are the best days of your life." I had held this thought in high esteem until recently when I realized that my school days were drawing to an end. As I thought about this, I didn't want to believe that the best years of my life were behind me. Certainly, I believe that our real opportunity is yet before us rather than behind us, and that we have experienced only a small degree of youth and happiness.

We, as Seniors, have been working upward for the past twelve years, and this is no time to cease climbing; we should never stop climbing and searching for success. We, as citizens of tomorrow, can make this world a better place to live. It is my hope that we shall serve all--the highest, the least, and the lost; that when life is over and all is behind us, we shall be worthy of that rewarding "Well Done."

As we have made "hands" the theme of our yearbook, we would want all to remember that we are held and shielded by the Hand of God. It is our paramount desire that this yearbook will hold the fondest memories of the past year, and that it shall always live in the hearts of those who have walked the halls of Elmore City High School as students for their last time.

The background of the page is a black and white photograph. The upper two-thirds of the image are filled with a vast, dramatic sky filled with large, billowing clouds. The lower third of the image shows a line of dark, leafy trees and bushes against the horizon. In the foreground, there is a field of tall, dry grass.

Dedication

To show our appreciation for your devotion and consideration we have dedicated this annual to you as a surprise.

Along with the faculty and student body, we, the '57 Annual Staff, congratulate you---Mrs. Billie English.

ADMINISTRATION

GEORGE SEATON, Superintendent

"Parting is such sweet sorrow" - This depends upon the circumstances. To you as seniors or other students, you are embarking upon a new adventure of life. You are putting the past behind you as a steppingstone and allowing someone else to make a greater achievement in your stead.

Your ambitions are beginning to be realized in some small numbers, but it has been brought about mostly by your hard labor and your ability to carry any project to its completion.

It will be hard to realize next year that you will have gone to greater fields because I have watched many of you "increase in wisdom and in favor with God and Man."

George Seaton

BONNIE SMITH, Secretary

Principal's Message

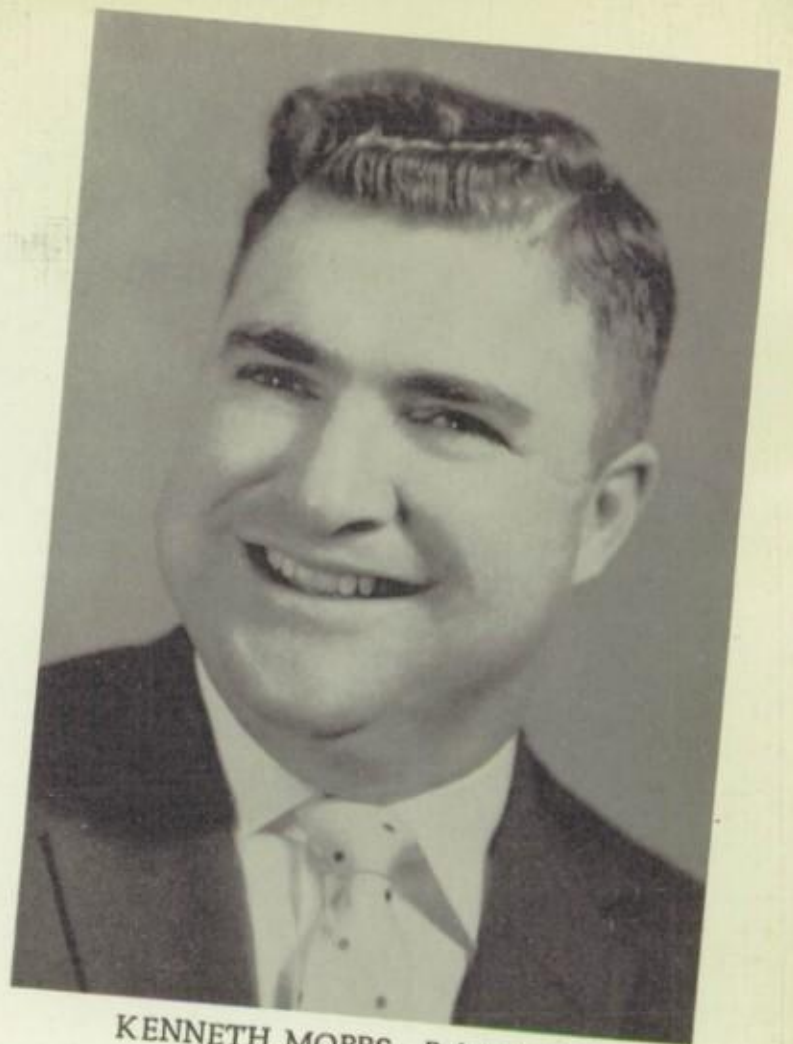

"The Badger" exemplifies to the fullest extent the results of consistent labor. It portrays evidence of progress and growth within Elmore City High School.

We are grateful to all those who have given their efforts that we may have a condensed record of the events of this school year. May this yearbook serve as a challenge and inspiration to those who will have the same responsibility in the future years.

Best Wishes,

Your Friend and Principal,

Kenneth Mobbs
